JEM DRISCOLL IN LINE TO FIGHT CHAMPION ARE ATTELL.

English Featherweight's Signal Victory Over Charley Griffin in Boston Has Boomed His Stock-Lenesome Days for Jimmy McAlcer, the Boss Trader.

Jem Driscott, the recognized featherweight champion of England and Australia, by reason of his signal victory over Charley Griffin, whom he knocked out in Boston in eleven rounds on Tuesday night, has won the right to a match with Abe Attell, the American champion, for a battle for world's honors. Driscoil has convinced ring experts that he is not only a remarkable boxer but also a real fighter with a punch. made Griffin, hitherto the Australian champlon, look like a povice, and by dint of superb generalship and perfect science he put the enishing touches on just at the proper Griffin and Driscoll weighed about 12s pounds on Tuesday evening, but that does not mean that Driscoll cannot make the featherweight limit, 122 pounds, and be strong.

Deiscoli is at his best at 126 pounds but says he can fight just as well at 122. But whether he will consent to make 122 at ringelde, a stipulation usually made by Attell when he thinks his title is in danger, remains to be seen. Attell has been regarded as one of the eleverest boxers in the world and has had a cinch on the featherweight title ever since Young Corbett after de-McGovern became two heavy to defend the title at the prescribed weight. Even now Attell, in preparation for a ten round mill with Kid Wolgast at Los Angeles on Eriday night, has trained down easily to scale at 122 and expects to win decisively Owen Moran, the English boxer, who thinks be is a better man than either Driscoll or Yale Team Has a Close Call With the Attell. met Wolgast in a six round bout at toe National A. C., in this city sone time ago and won easily. Moran had previously suga: a twenty-five round draw with Attell in California and declared after th mill that he should have received the decision. Later Moran drew again with Attell in a twenty-three round affair on the Coast, the Englishman making an excellent showing. But good judges of scientific boxing any that Moran at his best does not class with Driscoil as a fighter and heady ring lactics the yale feam wou to measure the california and declared after the that he should have received the declared with the Manhattan College. A can be considered to measure the cast of the cast o to Attell, which will be forthcoming im-mediately, cannot be ignored by the latter. Attell must defend his title or acknowledge that he does not care for Driscoll's fingside he may seek to have an advan-Luce over Priscolf in point of physical condition, and he will be technically right hirthis demand. But it must be rememfeatherweight champions, lost their titles Mosevern beat Dixon at 118 pounds, while at 126. In view of these facts many sporting men said yesterday that Attell, unless he is afraid of Driscoll, should agree upon by pounds ringside, Attell should accept when he first boxed in this country, was pronounced a second rater by several critics, but he has since compelled every ring follower of note to admit that he is a high class pugilist.

In commenting on his showing against friffin Eoston sporting men who were at the ringside declared yesterday that Driscoil was the best boxer ever seen in the tunb and was also by far the greatest little lighter that ever came over here from ingland. If Driscoil and Attell meet the briton will receive plenty of backing from New York and Boston fight fans.

Owen Moran was matched yesterday to meet Frankie Neil in a twelve round tout in Boston next Tuesday night. These boys were scheduled for a fight in the Hub weveral weeks aco, but Moran was suddenly taken ill. A year ago Moran knocked will out in California, but the latter has sever been satisfied. Moran says that he will beat Neil again and that he will then ro after both Attell and Driscoll. As Moran and Driscoll are both under the management of Charley Harvey it is probable that they will not settle their differences until they go back to England.

Philadelphia Jack O'Brien says he would be to tackle Stapley Retchel. As Ketchel

Jim Corbett will probably referee the Papke-Kelly fight at Los Angeles on Decem-ter 15. A well known bookmaker operating of the Santa Anita track says he has $10,000 to bet on Kelly.

to bet on Kelly.

These are lonesome days for James McAleer, manager of the St. Louis Browns. McAleer is attending the American League meeting here for the purpose of making a few deals in players, if possible. But in view of numerous transactions in which he has secured much the better of the swaps McAleer found out to his dismay yesterday that other managers and magnistes with whom he was inclined to talk trades were in a hurry to get away from him. McAleer, it will be remembered, traded Glade, Hemphill and Niles to the New York Americans last winter for Williams, Hoffman and Ferris, who was secured from Boston to complete the transfer. The year before the St. Louis manager traded over Rickey to Griffith for Joe Yeager, Is each instance the New York club got a crate of lemoms, barring Hemphill, and for this reason McAleer came to be regarded as a wizard. Yesterday he had a little chat with one of the Western club owners, but the latter, after the confab, said that while McAleer's proposition looked good he was afraid to make the deal because of the experiences of the New York and other clubs in the past. As a result of McAleer's plight the baseball men at the Hotel Wolcott made his life miserable with good natured joshing yesterday that if the St. Louis manager threw up his hands. "He is in the same class with Connie Mack," said Wild Bill Donovan of the Detroits. "They are the best 'gold brick' sellers in baseball, and other managers are jealous of them."

It was said yesterday that on New Year's eve in the Garden there would be a "Marathon" race for the professional championship of the world with Dorando, Hayes, Longboat and possibly Smallwood or Shrubb as the competitors. Longboat, who will meet Dorando next Tuesday night, will indulge in a stiff ten mile run with John Daly of the Irish American A. C. at Celtic Park to-day as a workout for the Dorando match.

CURRENT SPORTING GOSSIP HARVARD TO ROW COLUMBIA. STILL BUSY WITH MINURS Date for Bace Apparently the Only Matter to Be Arranged.

There is a rumor in collegiate rowing circles, apparently well founded, that Columbia and Harvard are to meet in a dual rowing race next spring. The rumor found its origin in a statement that appeared in the Harrard Crimson to the effect that among the crews with whom arrangements were being made for races Columbia was one. Further than this the Harvard management has refused to talk and at Columbia nothing at all will be said about the pro-

the Crimson usually has the seal of official Nothing can be learned as to the probable date of the contest, but it is thought that the Harvard people will want to have it early in the season in order that it may not affect the crew for the Annapolis and Cornell races, the first of which will probably be late in April while the other will be held as usual at the end of May. Coach Wray of Harvard does not believe in taking chances at overworking his crews and thus getting them out of shape for the Yale race, which is the real objective point of the Harvard season.

Columbia on the other hand has just begun varsity rowing after successfully getting rid of the difficulties that seemed to threaten the very existence of the sport at Morningside Heights. If the race is to be rowed at an early part of the season, as the Harvard schedule seems to indicate that it will be, Columbia will be at a great disadvantage. The varsity crew will have had not much more than a month of actual work on the water.

For this reason it is not very certain that the Columbia management would accede to the request to have a race practically at the beginning of their season. Columbia and Harvard met on the Charles in the spring of 1907 and Columbia won rather easily in a two mile contest. date of the contest, but it is thought that Brooklyn Polytechnic Basketball Team Wins by Score of 28 to 17.

PRINCETON, Dec. 9 .- In a rough, speedy gymnasium here to-night Brooklyn Polyfinal score was 28 to 17. It was the visitors' game all the way, for they proved so fast and revealed such finely developed team play that Princeton couldn't overcome the lead of four points at the end of the first lead of four points at the end of the first half.

The new rule providing for the withdrawal of a man who has committed five fouls in a single contest was put into effect when Walsh of Brooklyn was withdrawn. At the beginning it looked like a give and take affair and the score stood 15 to 11 in favor of the visitors at the end of the first half, but the Brooklynites got together in the second period and rushed Princeton all over the floor.

The guests will be mainly those identified with St. Andrews in the early days before there were rival clubs, such as Daniel Chauncey, now president of the United Chauncey, now president of the United States Golf Association. L. B. Stoddart, winner of the independent national championship at St. Andrews in 1894, was invited but could not come. C. B. Macdonald, runner up to him and amateur champion of 1895, has accepted, and many of the holders of the title since will also be guests. Others to attend will be P. C. Myers, winner of the John Reid gold medal in 1880, the oldest golfing trophy in this country. W. H. Sands, who won the trophy out by three successive wins in 1897, and A. D. Cochrane, J. B. Baker, W. C. Carnegie, W. L. May, John Reid, Jr., and Archie Iteid of others who have since woil "legs" on the medal. Sinceon Ford, P. Francis Murphy, Martin W. Littleton and Henry W. It was the second day of the National League's annual meeting at the Waldort Nothing can be learned as to the probable and the first day of the American's ampual date of the contest, but it is thought that meeting at the Hotel Wolcott. In the morning there was a meeting of the National Commission, and at this the delegation from the minor leagues other than the Eastern League and the American Association appeared to state their case to the commission in answer to the petition presented by their two class A associates in which the latter asked that they be allowed to run their own affairs so far as minor league matters were concerned. The other minors asked for more time yesterday in which to reply to the requests of the other two leagues. They said they weren't ready to give their side of it, and so their side of it went over until January 4, on which day the National Commission will hold its annual meeting in Cincinnati. However, Mesers, Killilea, Powers and O'Brien, representing the Eastern League-American Association faction, appeared before both the National and American leagues, again told their story of how present relations with the other minors were unfair and intolerable and urged prompt action by the big leaguers. Neither of the two latter bodies did more than listen to the committee, composed of Killilea, Powers and O'Brien. Neither took any action The matter is too important to be decided in a hurry. Ban Johnson, president of the American League, has asked the National League delegates to meet with the American League to-day, and the minor league situation then will come in for further de-

Nothing has been done yet about Roger Bresnahan going to St. Louis. "There's still a chance," says Roger. Bresnahan's case is involved in a possible threecornered deal in which Schlei may be traded to St. Louis for a catcher and two pitchers and then be traded to New York for Bresnahan.

The Baseball Scorers Association of America, which was launched in Detroit this fall, took further steps toward organization at a meeting in the Waldorf. A constitution was adopted and these officers were elected: President, Joseph Jackson, Detroit; vice-president, Jack Ryder, Cincinnat; secretary, William Weart, Philadelphia: treasurer, Timothy Murnane, Boston.

TO BE VERY STRICT.

This question was brought up at yester-Hollander, vice-president of the Fiat conbelled to race their cars against machines even though a sufficient quantity had been turned out to make them eligible under the former rules, which provided that at least ten cars of the type to be raced must have been produced.

It is likely that the regulations to be adopted for next year's race will take into account not only the cylinder bore but the stroke as well. The rules for the race last April required only that the engines should not exceed a given bore and provided for a maximum cylinder area. It is practically settled that a minimum weight limit will be required in order that no abnormally light chasses may be entered. It is also probable that cars having engines with overhead valves will also be ruled out.

It was reported after yesterday's meeting that twelve entries are already assured for next year's race, with several more to be named as soon as the rules are published. F. J. Wagner and Russell A. Field were appointed managers of the next race. C. F. Wyckoff presided at the meeting, the others in attendance being E. Rand Hollander, Percy Owen, C. M. Hamilton, C. A. Emise, Walter C. Allen and H. U. Palmer.

The Society of Professional Automobile Engineers, which has headquarters at 1947 Broadway, has elected the following officers for the enging year: President, Adward Traphager: first vice-president, Robert J. is much encouraged by the interest created, as a surance has already been received that afteen cars will enter. The run will be over five routes, twenty miles out and twenty miles back each time, and the exact locations of these trips will not be made known until the start. Besides a most severe test on the run itself there will be four tests after the run. These will consist of a brake, clutch, transmission and motor test.

Oil smoke in garages is often so dense as to be most annoying to the occupants, and yet it is in "tuning up" a car or getting it ready for a journey it is so often felt that the smoke had better be produced in the garage than out of doors, where it might give offence to the public. It ought to be the rule that a car should not be sent out of the garage until its exhaust is quite free from noxious smoke, and to render this possible a well known French motorist. M. Richard, has designed for the Automobile Club de France an ingenious apparatus, now installed in the A. C. F. garage. This consists of a flue with flexible piping, coupled up with an electric fan and leading out through the roof. When a car is to be started up its muffer is connected to the pipe, the engine set going and the fan switched on. In this manner all the smoke is at once whisked away, and the most offensive car may be run without causing smoke in the garage.

At present there seems to be no device in connection with the apparatus by which one smoke in the garage.

At present there seems to be no device in connection with the apparatus by which one can determine whether the exhaust is running clean or not, but this could easily be determined by fixing a little observation window in the pipe. The matter of clean exhaust is of some importance to motorists in Paris, as cars emitting noxious smoke incur punishment for their drivers. With such smoke clearing devices installed in garages a car at the first signs of smokiness could hasten to the garage and run the engine until the excessive oil had been consumed and cleared off. In this way many an unpleasant interview with the police could be avoided and the public prejudice against motoring would be further allayed.

These reports were very pleasing to the members. The work of getting the new clubhouse in shape is going on well, and by next summer the Brooklyn club will have a fine new home. To support a house of the size that the club will have it has been found necessary to raise the dues, and the initiation fee will in future be $50, and the dues $50 a year, payable semi-annually. It has been pointed out that these are not excessive as the new house is to be open all the year round.
